

ANNUAL REPORT

2022

Celebrating 100 years of food, farming, artists, and community.

With our Centennial Year on the books, we would like to extend our gratitude to all of you for your contributions in making this such a remarkable season. Through the support of our community, we have been able to expand the reach of our mission by implementing programs such as Gleaning and BIPOC Night Markets. As we continue to evolve, we remain rooted by doing what we do best – shopping, eating, cooking, preserving, and celebrating the abundant and diverse offerings of our market. Year-round we have shown up to build a local economy where our 110 food vendors and 437 artisan vendors could thrive. As we look towards the future, we are eager to continue to strengthen the work of this beloved cultural institution and ensure that this is a space where everyone feels seen, valued, and connected. Cheers to another 100 years!

Artisans Market

The Fulton Street Artisans Market has experienced a huge amount of growth this year. With over 400 approved artisan vendors, the market was alive with art and creativity every day of the season. We have been working hard over the past couple of years to ensure that artisan vendors are welcomed into each day of the market, not just on Sundays.

The Market Gleaning Program

This year we took on a new program where we recover produce at the end of Saturday markets and distribute it in the Heartside neighborhood. This keeps food out of the landfill while increasing community access to fresh produce. Thanks to our generous farmers, we gleaned 27,871 pounds of produce throughout the 2022 season!
